GENERAL TERMS APPLICABLE TO ALL ACCOUNTS

Member in Good Standing. The Account services described in these Account Disclosures are available to those members in good standing with the Credit Union. We reserve the right to suspend or cancel services to a member who is not in good standing, which includes, but is not limited to members that have:

- a delinquent loan.
- a primary savings Account balance below the $1.00 minimum.
- an unresolved deposited returned check.
- unpaid and uncollected credit union fees.
- a negative balance on an Account.
- failed to comply with the terms and conditions of any lawful obligation with Us, and as a result, caused Us to suffer a financial loss.
- committed, or threatened, acts of violence against Our employees, agents or members.
- failed to conduct themselves in a civil and businesslike manner.

Any check or pre-authorized transfer, or transaction made through the use of a debit card, or other electronic means, as is applicable (including any in-person transaction), that is presented to Us for payment on Your Account when Your Account lacks sufficient collected funds to pay any such item may, at Our option, be returned for nonsufficient funds or We may honor any such item and charge You a fee for doing so.

Overdraft Balance Calculation. When processing transactions that debit or credit Your Account, We start each Business Day with Your final Account balance from the preceding Business Day. The final balance takes into account all of the debit and credit transactions that were settled that Business Day pursuant to Our Funds Availability Policy, as well as any other debits or credits to Your Account that were finally settled that day, as described above in the "Deposit of Items" and "Collection and Processing of Items" sections of the Account Agreement. This starting balance at the beginning of a Business Day (the preceding Business Day's final balance) is sometimes referred to as Your "actual balance."

As credits and debits to Your Account are received by Us, We add them to and subtract them from Your actual balance. Examples of credits include, but are not limited to, electronic direct deposits, check deposits that have been fully and finally collected, ACH credits that have settled that day, and cash deposits made to one of Our Member Service Representatives. Examples of debits include, but are not limited to, checks drawn on Your Account that are presented to Us for payment together with such checks that are returned unpaid and subsequently represented for payment, electronic fund transfer (EFT) debit transactions (such as preauthorized payments and settled EFT debits) and all reinitiated electronic fund transfer (EFT) debit transactions (such as preauthorized payments), memo-posted EFT debits (EFT debits that We have authorized but which have not been settled), and all Credit Union fees and charges. As noted above, these examples are not an exhaustive list and should not be construed as such. The result of this calculation at any given point in time is called Your "available balance."

For the purpose of determining whether an overdraft has occurred, We use Your available balance. In doing so, We add all of the settled credit transactions to the beginning actual balance (as of the time an item is received for payment), while subtracting all debit transactions that settled as of that same time. We also subtract all pending debit transactions. This determines the available balance for overdraft purposes. Each debit transaction, including any representation, that We process when Your Account has, or will have, a negative available balance is an overdraft, subject to an overdraft charge.

Subject to applicable law, You are responsible for paying any overdraft fees and charges assessed in connection with Our payment of an overdraft, as well as any NSF fees charged to Your Account when We dishonor and return an item for nonsufficient funds. It is Your responsibility to know Your Account balance, and if You have any questions You should contact a Credit Union representative.

Nature of Dividends. All dividends are paid from current income and available earnings, after required transfers to reserves at the end of a dividend period.

Compounding and Crediting. For all Accounts, dividends will be earned daily for each day on which Your balance exceeds the minimum balance requirement for Your Account. For all Accounts, the dividend period is the monthly statement cycle, and dividends will be compounded daily and credited to Your Account monthly.

For all dividend bearing Accounts, any accrued but uncredited dividends will be paid at the time You close Your Account.

For Rewards Savings and Dividend Rewards Checking Accounts, closure during a current monthly qualification cycle will result in the payment of accrued dividends at the non-qualifying rate.

Balance Computation Method. For all Accounts, dividends are calculated by the daily balance method which applies a daily periodic rate to the balance in Your Account each day.

Accrual on Noncash Deposits. For all dividend bearing Accounts, dividends will begin to accrue on the business day that You deposit noncash items (e.g. checks) into Your Account.

Fees and Charges. Any fees and charges applicable to Your Account are disclosed on the accompanying schedule of fees and charges provided in conjunction with these Agreements and Disclosures.
